Les armes

TVA

The murder of an elite soldier during the training of a secret commando plunges the Kanawata base into turmoil. Louis-Philippe Savard, an honest and deserving officer, is summoned to take charge of the operations. As he tries to impose himself as Commander and clean house, he comes up against resistance from Colonel Allan Craig, Base Commander and a commando whom he is to succeed on an interim basis. When military police officer Kim Falardeau confides in Savard that the incident seems to be hiding something much bigger, they team up to try to shed light on the events without realizing they're being sucked into a dangerous spiral.

Indéfendable

TVA

Although criminal defence firm Lapointe, MacDonald, and Desjardins is plunged into a state of shock following the attack that killed Inès and Frédéric Legrand, the partners still need to pull themselves together and find the courage to continue their practice and keep defending their clients. Big trials for murder, terrorist activities, trafficking, an escape from prison, extortion, manslaughter, suicide prevention, aggravated assault, kidnapping, arson, criminal negligence causing death, and false imprisonment, amongst others, are all on the docket. The show's criminal lawyers will be facing quite a few seasoned, skillful Crown attorneys, with Marie-Anne as their ally, who will do everything they can to secure a guilty verdict for the accused.

Chanteurs masqués

Stars from all walks of life (music, television, politics, sports, journalism, business, etc.) become masked singers, whose identities are kept secret.

Mélissa Bédard, Sam Breton, Anouk Meunier, and Stéphane Rousseau form a panel of investigators whose quest is to find out who is under each costume, by analyzing musical performances and clues that are cleverly revealed.

At the end of each episode, the identity of one masked singer is revealed to the audience.

Hosted by Sébastien Benoit, this musical competition promises its share of surprises and strong emotions!

MasterChef Québec

MasterChef Québec brings together cooking aficionados with no formal education or work experience in restauration. They'll compete by preparing a variety of dishes in order to impress two judges, Martin Picard and Stefano Faita. Our two referees will stop at nothing to take the participants by surprise and put their skills to the test, particularly by offering them the infamous Mystery Box and restricting them to specific ingredients. The season's winner will earn a cash grand prize, not to mention the prestigious MasterChef Québec trophy.

Alertes

The investigative squad known as Cerberus, led by new commander Roméo Goulet, investigates the disappearance of Jeanne, a young student at the Classical Ballet Academy. The investigation leads them to uncover many secrets hidden behind the slick façade of the ballet school. A complex mystery awaits the members of Cerberus, one in which appearances often deceive and where friendship hides darker realities.

An elderly man is mysteriously found dead, the only clues being a black feather left on his body and a strange mark on his neck. This macabre discovery marks the beginning of a series of similar murders, plunging the city into a haze of fear and mistrust.

While these investigations are going on, squad members find themselves confronting unexpected and sometimes heart-rending events in their personal lives. Lily-Rose and Renaud make a major decision about their future, while Dominic and Pénélope are the recipients of an offer that's hard to refuse, and which may require some major sacrifices. During one of the investigations, Guillaume reunites with his father and reveals previously unknown aspects of his family's history. A new recruit, Noura Karam, brings fresh blood to Cerberus. These personal challenges crash head-on with Cerberus' complicated investigations, testing the squad's loyalty, resilience, and determination.

Les révoltés

Éléonore St-Laurent is a lawyer with principles, fiercely independent and always ready with an argument. Jacob Gravel-Duquette is an investigative journalist who follows his gut, no matter where it takes him. Each denounces the vicissitudes of the system in their own way, and sometimes by joining forces, joined by others who are also disgusted at its torpid pace and inflexibility. Éléonore and Jacob fight against bureaucratic absurdity to help desperate members of the public get even a semblance of justice. Both of these idealists are often confronted by moral dilemmas: How far are they prepared to go to shake things up?

ORIGINAL PRODUCTION | 10 EPISODES X 60 MINUTES

Le temps des framboises

It's Christmas Eve on the farm. The Conleys are still just as dysfunctional as ever, and Élisabeth is terribly worried about Francisco. Spring soon arrives with a big new project: the construction of a greenhouse worth millions of dollars. The pressure on Élisabeth has never been this big, especially given that Martha is continuing to harass her for her share of the farm. Despite the tensions caused by the arrival of a new worker who seems determined to reveal Francisco's secrets, everyone has to pull together to protect the future of the farm. Élisabeth relies even more on Denis to pull off the project, with extra help from Junior, who hopes to follow in his father's footsteps. While family tensions still punctuate their everyday lives, romance surfaces just in time for the season finale. As Maureen learns to forgive herself and Estelle makes her romance public, Peggy attracts a completely unforeseen love interest. And while Martha makes peace with a forbidden romantic interest from her past, Élisabeth jumps head-first into her own affair. Faced with an all-consuming passion that sometimes makes her feel like she's drowning, and sometimes just slips through her fingers, she has to decide whether the affair can last or if the whole thing is just a fling.
